Drawing on selected case studies from South Africa, Ghana and India, the workshop will examine new organising strategies by trade unions and other forms of worker organisation that are emerging in the face of growing informalisation and fragmentation of work. The discussion will include insights from the “Trade Unions in Transformation” initiative of the Friedrich Ebert Stiftung as well as from Crossing the Divide: Precarious Work and the Future of Labour, a new book edited by Edward Webster, Akua O. Britwum and Sharit Bhowmik.

The workshop will be followed by the official launch of Crossing the Divide. Workshop participants are welcome to attend the launch.
